

Both teams in our group are on time, completing task 1 for Milestone 2 early enough to get a late day. Chase and Evan have had some useful learning experiences concerning scaling MATLAB plots. They now understand the importance of not rushing through that type of thing and paying attention to the details.